I was able to check out the new Josh Martinez LP on my drive back from Indiana on Sunday. And I must say, it made I-65 South much more enjoyable. I must admit I've never gotten into his music that much in the past, but The World Famous Sex Buffet is a very dope project, and according to the liner notes, is Josh's last solo album. More info and sounds from the full set are forthcoming, for now check out one of my favorite joints, "Underground Pop." And if you like, pick up the album when it drops in the near future.
